The Best and Worst Qualities of the Human Race

What are the best qualities of the human race? Some of the best qualities to me are if a person is caring, kind, funny, outgoing, and if he or she has a positive attitude. Being caring and kind to people is important. Who wants to be mean to people? I think that if you are nice and if you care about others, they will be nice and show you that they care about you too. Treat others how you would want to be treated. Funny and outgoing people are always fun to be around! Personally, I love to laugh and it's great when you can find a person who can always put a big smile on your face and make you laugh often. People who have positive attitudes are usually the most supportive and encouraging. There's nothing better than knowing that someone believes in you and what you are capable of. When you are around positive people, you usually are positive also. The worst qualities of the human race are mean people, being judgmental, and negative attitudes. I understand that everyone makes mistakes and everyone can have moments where they are mean to people, but it's a whole different story when you are constantly being mean. If you are always being mean people will eventually refer to you as a bully. Everyone can be judgmental. No matter where you go or what you do there will always be one person that will judge you. People with negative attitudes are not fun to be around. They usually tend to complain and make a situation worse than it really is.
